The Change Companies®

Addiction and Mental Health Products

Engaging clients with Interactive Journaling® reinforces the truth that every individual is responsible for the choices he or she makes. As clients respond to the structured questions provided, they create their own unique tools for ongoing recovery. Within our line of treatment curricula are gender-specific, culture-specific and special-population Journals, as well as materials for family support.

The Change Companies®

Justice Services Products

For over 30 years, The Change Companies® has partnered with organizations across the continuum of justice services: court and pretrial systems, jails, state and federal prisons, reentry-focused organizations, state departments and community corrections staff. Across this continuum, we have observed that individuals are most likely to succeed in their reentry when programming matches their phase, primary risk-need domains and risk level.

The Change Companies® curricula can help you individualize your programming in each of these areas. We partner with organizations like the Federal Bureau of Prisons, U.S. Probation, private prison groups and multiple State Departments of Corrections – along with renowned research experts in the justice field – to ensure curriculum content is aligned with risk-need-responsivity assessments and current research on what works in recidivism reduction.
