THE BREAKING THE CYCLE SERIES

Developed in collaboration with the Department of Justice, Federal Bureau of Prisons, the Breaking the Cycle series uses cognitive-behavioral practices and evidence-based strategies to assist participants as they work to make positive changes to their criminogenic thoughts and behaviors and patterns of substance use.

Getting Started

Item #: BCO1 | 32 pages | $4.95

Participants learn eight positive attitudes for success, evaluate their substance use history, explore the process of behavior change and set personal goals.

Basic Cognitive Skills

Item #: BCO2 | 32 pages | $4.95

Participants learn to apply the Five Rules for Rational Thinking and to conduct a Rational Self-analysis to check and challenge their thinking and beliefs.

Core Skills

Item #: BCO3 | 56 pages | $7.95

Participants focus on replacing irrational and criminogenic beliefs, improving self-control, practicing effective communication and building healthy relationships.

Recovery Maintenance

Item #: BCO4 | 36 pages | $5.95

Participants apply the skills they have learned throughout the program to identify their strengths, learn about relapse warning signs and create their own recovery maintenance plan.

Rational Self-analysis (RSA) Check Pad

Item #: BCP1 | 50 sheets | $10.50

Participants learn to use the RSA in the Basic Cognitive Skills Interactive Journal. Participants analyze a problem situation, the consequences, and how they can make better choices.

Attitude Check Pad

Item #: BCP2 | 50 sheets | $10.50

Participants learn how to use the Attitude Check in the Getting Started Interactive Journal. Participants examine their own attitudes in relation to eight positive attitudes.

Breaking the Cycle Facilitator Guide

Item #: BCFG | 194 pages | $85.00

This Guide features miniature versions of the Interactive Journal pages with facilitation instructions, recommendations and participant activities wrapped around the border of each page.
